give it away, but the location has been fixed for Sixth street on the site formerly occupied by J. S. Gardner's store.

An important transfer last week was the sale of the grocery store of D. D.

and that the man jumped off with the above result. A suit will follow.

Strout's spacious residence. So well pleased were the party with their visit that it will be a long time before they cease singing the praises of their entertainers.—Perham Bulletin.

The chinaman bear and his keeper were amusing the small boys and large men on the streets yesterday. The flaming circus posters seem to have excited the desire for wild beast shows, and the Chinaman bear, until Barrett's unsurpassed and gigantic combination of unheard of monstrosities and wonders reach Brainerd, the tents will be packed until the vender of red lemonade and prize packages will not have room to circulate among the crowd.

able to return the following Monday. A like rate is in effect to Perham for $1.45 the round trip. A rate of $4.45 to Detroit, Lake and return good for thirty days, is also in force. The same authority has also authorized a rate of one fare for the round trip from all stations between Sauk Centre and Fergus Falls, and Detroit to Brainerd, and return, for the

A man who had all the appearance of being crazy was arrested by Officer Derecher early this morning. Later developments proved that he was not in his right mind as he tore around the prison and succeeded in biting one of his fingers nearly off. The man lives in Perham and was in the employ of Martin Shen. When the Vice squad opened up here he was employed as a porter. He goes back to his home in Perham, but his latter name could not be learned. He is a thin man and light complexioned. The authorities at Perham will be notified and requested to attend to him as he belongs in that place.

Nothing succeeds like success except "Briar Pipe" and "Charm of the West" chewing tobacco. Both are a success.

The Fifth Annual.

Everything pertaining to the coming celebration by the Brainerd Fire Department of their fifth annual parade is moving along smoothly and a grand good time is expected. Arches across the streets are being put up, one at the corner of Fifth and Front, one at the corner of Front and Sixth, besides one at the risk, and the East Brainerd boys are having one put up in their part of the city. The Brainerd ladies, noted for their generosity, have been waiting upon for contributions in the shape of eatables for the banquet in the evening and have responded liberally. The supper will be served in the building just south of the roller rink. All contributions will be kept track of and anything left over will be turned over to people who are in circumstances to appreciate a square meal, so nothing will go to waste.

The race between the horse carts will be an important feature and much excitement is anticipated over the contest. The roller rink will be decorated with bunting, flags and other material and will present a very pleasant appearance.
All visiting companies will be met at the trains and will be taken care of by the Brainerd firemen during their stay in locality. All the horse companies and cock and the ladies have their full complement of members and a larger or more showy parade has never been seen in this city than will be witnessed next Monday. The following order will be observed:

Ptation of Police.
Brainerd City Band.
Mounted Ptation of Officers.
Brainerd and Visiting Fire Departments.

The following is the line of march:
Procession will form on Fifth street,

Innocent of Rape.

The trial of the case against Abner Shull, who lives four miles out of the city on the Crow Wing road, came up for trial in the municipal court yesterday morning. The prisoner was a man some years of age and the complaining witness a girl of eleven years, Berna Masters, by name, and slight for her age.
The man appeared much broken up by the proceedings and during part of the examination hung his head as if ashamed to meet the gaze of the crowd assembled.
The result of the examination showed that although there were grounds for a severe reprimand from the court that the charge was not sustained. On this day (Tuesday) Mr. Shull and the girl, who is his step-daughter, were alone at the house, the balance of the family having gone berrying. According to the girl's story the man came in while she was doing up the work and forcibly carried her to the bedroom where he put her on the bed but nothing occurred of a criminal nature, although undue liberties were attempted. Mr. Shull was not sworn on his behalf but we understand that according to his theory it was but a playful frolic with the girl that he frequently indulged in. The court dismissed the prisoner after giving him some sound advice which the old man ought to heed.

It also cropped out during the examination that Phillip Coburn was partially guilty of getting the old man into such a bad box by instructing the girl to tell the county attorney that a portion of Shull's person was exposed. This she did but when she came onto the stand she testified that Phillip Coburn had got her to say so at the risk of her life but that it was not true, and that this Coburn's reason for desiring her to so state was in order to make the case strong enough to "send the old man over the road." For this nice piece of business the judge sentenced Coburn to two days in the county jail for contempt of court.

They Fought Ten Rounds.

To people who witness science in the mainly art of boxing with a feeling of delight, the glove fight at the opera house Wednesday evening between Wm.
McGuire and Jack Keefe was a decided success. The fight was conducted in a square manner, and a hippodrome that was looked for by some was not thought of as the contest progressed. A set-to between Frank Shepley, McGuire's trainer, and Jim Coakley started the ball, which was followed by clog dancing by an English amateur much to the amusement of the audience, the E. A. not forgetting to pick up the dimes as they rattled down under the feet. It was then announced that the mill would commence.

THE PRINCIPALSHIP.

The people of Brainerd could not have been more surprised if an earthquake had opened the ground and swallowed half the city, than they were after reading the letter published in the News of last Sunday by N. W. Wheatley on the school question. They expected disclosures of mammoth magnitude and of such a character as to forever blast the prospects of Prof. Wilson in this community and the country at large. Like a booming cannon the communication reacted, and a tide of sentiment has set in in Prof. Wilson's behalf since its publication that is certainly very pleasing to that gentleman's friends and very discouraging to the gentlemen who are so obstinately opposing him. A member of the school board some weeks ago stated to a reporter that if the papers crowded them too much in this matter they would seek redress by exposing to the public gaze some of the most astounding facts and information ever heard of, and that if they were compelled to do this the public would not wonder at their attitude. Their "expose" has been published, and the result is a very pleasing indeed—to Prof. Wilson. The controversy has gone far enough to allow the people to realize that the objections to hiring Mr. Wilson are based on personal grounds. One of the opposing members has stated to D. W. Travis that he expected to run for office in the near future, and it would blight his prospects should he change his opinion in this matter. But the public have had enough of this matter, for if the gentlemen who were elected by the people fail to do their duty, it is simply an unfortunate state of affairs, and the dear public will have to suffer for their blunder in putting them where they are.

THE COUNCIL PETITIONED TO OPEN FIFTH STREET.

The city council held a regular meeting Monday evening, and after the preliminary business the petition of Ed. Coffey as policeman and the discharge of Officer Lewis, the council considered the matter of giving Hose Co. No. 4 an outfit, and the purchasing committee was instructed to procure an outfit and to buy a lot and erect a hose house for them. This was carried with a dissenting vote. The committee on sewerage submitted plans and made a verbal report which were accepted and the committee was authorized to go ahead and expend not to exceed $15,000 in their construction, the vote on it being a tie, and for the first time in some years the mayor was called on to cast the deciding vote, which was in the affirmative.

JAMES HAWKINS was instructed to build several crosswalks at same rate as he received last season, and to fix up sidewalks in East Brainerd.

J. B. Douglas then stepped out and presented a couple of petitions to the council signed by over a hundred residents and property holders on Fifth street asking the street to be widened and the street opened. A motion to refer the whole matter to the committee on streets was lost. Ald. Gardner's motion to read and adopt the resolutions was carried.

A resolution was then read praying that J. B. Douglas be appointed as special attorney to attend to this matter, as City Attorney Fernald was the attorney for the railroad company, but it did not carry. Mr. Douglas then made a speech to the council in which he stated that he desired to see the street opened, and that he thought the whole matter would die if left to the city attorney on account of his relation to the railroad company, and he wanted to see some attorney, he didn't care who, appointed that would attend to it. This unwarranted dig at Mr. Fernald brought that gentleman up, and he stated that he had been consulted in the matter but he certainly should do what was right in the matter as everybody knew, and that he was not in the habit of doing such business; that from the start he had had an understanding that should any case arise in which he could not act for the city's interest he would let them know, and they could appoint some one to act, but did not think Mr. Douglas should be allowed to dictate to the council, or publicly insult him unless there was some cause.

At this point Ald. Doran saw an opportunity to get a side-winder into Douglas' ribs and remarked that "probably Douglas was anxious to improve the opportunity of getting back where he could manage a certain part of the city's affairs again," but the look on Ald. Doran's face was resolute.

When asked whether or not he could act, Mr. Fernald stated that being asked to give an answer without looking into the matter, he would be obliged to say that he could not act. Three or four ballots were then taken in which Mr. Fernald received four votes each time, and being unable to elect, Mr. Fernald was asked to appoint an attorney and he named Mr. Lum, and the council by vote agreed to pay him out of the city funds.

The openings on Front street into basements were ordered to be cut down to three feet.

Chief Mertz asked the council, in a communication, to increase his salary from $400 to $500 a month, and he made $5 a month which received no second and the matter was laid over one week.

The plat of Davis' addition to the city of Brainerd was accepted, and the council adjourned.

BARRETT'S CLEVER ELEPHANTS.

Amazing Displays of Intelligence. Two Elephant Pupils.

One of the most striking attractions of S. H. Barrett's New United Monster Shows, which exhibit here, on August 2nd, is the intelligence displayed by the herd of trained elephants. They appear in their musical acts, whirl in their waltzes, form towering pyramids, and do numerous other amazing feats. This perfection has only been attained after years of hard, unremitting work on the part of the trainer, Prof. George Thompson, a most humane and capable gentleman. The two leading elephantine stars are "Bismarck" and "Juno," a male and female, respectively, of the Asiatic species. They display almost human intelligence in their part of the performances. The jolly trick clown elephants, "Doc" and "Ben Butler," share the stellar honors with their big companions, "Bismarck" and "Juno." "Doc" and "Ben" are a precious pair. Their antics surpass in humor any of the "business" of their human companions. They wind up their laughable act with a genuine four-round boxing bout, in accordance with the rules promulgated by the famous Marquis of Queensberry. A referee, seconds, time-keeper, bottle-holders, and other realistic accessories, are introduced. A glove is attached to the trunk of each animal, and at the call of time, they smash away at each other to the infinite delight of the spectators. A real knock-out contest invariably takes place, unless the police forbid "slugging." In that deplorable event, the four-legged pugilists spar for "scientific points" only. The admirers of the monkey art hereabouts have a rich treat in store.

IT PAYS BETTER.

A revolution in the lumber business of Minnesota will be brought about by the completion of a Brainerd & Northwestern railroad, the survey of which is in progress. Instead of the logs being driven to the mills, the mills will be built where the logs are cut and the manufactured lumber taken by rail to market. By the way, it is reported that C. F. Kindred has made a trade with President Hill of the Manitoba, whereby the latter is to build this line of road and take one half the land grant, Mr. K. to take the other half, or about one million acres. This pays better than going to Congress.—St. Cloud Journal-Press.

SOLID FOR JIM HILL.

The bond question was carried at yesterday's election by a majority of 173, and if the transfer of the Brainerd & Northwestern had been fully consummated there would not have been ten votes cast in opposition to the bonds; thus showing that the citizens of Crookston are a unit in carrying out their part of the agreement with Mr. Hill.—Crookston Chronicle.

Mark Paine, the N. P. Junction lumberman who was burned out last Saturday, gave the Duluth firemen $200 for their services.

The Northern Pacific have been granted a lease of the Duluth & Manitoba road for a term of fifty years.

In Georgia a tax of ten cents a head on cats is imposed. This is a progressive nation.

Three elevators containing over a million bushels of wheat were burned at Minneapolis Tuesday night.

INTO THE GREAT PINE REGION.

The survey of the Brainerd & Northwestern is gradually being pushed into the great pine region north of the Northern Pacific and at last accounts was within nineteen miles of Leech Lake, which body the line is expected to strike. There is apparently little doubt but that the line will be built, and that too, in the very near future. It is destined to play an important part in the lumber business of the northwest.—Lumberman.

THE PRINCIPALSHIP.

The people of Brainerd could not have been more surprised if an earthquake had opened the ground and swallowed half the city, than they were after reading the letter published in the News of last Sunday by N. W. Wheatley on the school question. They expected disclosures of mammoth magnitude and of such a character as to forever blast the prospects of Prof. Wilson in this community and the country at large. Like a booming the communication reacted, and a tide of sentiment has set in in Prof. Wilson's behalf since its publication that is certainly very pleasing to that gentleman's friends and very discouraging to the gentlemen who are so obstinately opposing him. A member of the school board some weeks ago stated to a reporter that if the papers crowded them too much in this matter they would seek redress by exposing to the public gaze some of the most astounding facts and information ever heard of, and that if they were compelled to do this the public would not "under" at their attitude. Their "expose" has been published, and the result is very pleasing indeed—to Prof. Wilson. The controversy has gone far enough to allow the people to realize that the objections to hiring Mr. Wilson are based on personal grounds. One of the opposing members has stated to D. W. Travis that he expected to run for office in the near future, and it would blight his prospects should he change his opinion in this matter. But the public have had enough of this matter, for if the gentlemen who were elected by the people fail to do their duty, it is simply an unfortunate state of affairs, and the dear public will have to suffer for their blunder in putting them where they are.

A MANUFACTURING POINT.

The Brainerd papers draw the deduction from the fact that the Minneapolis saw mill owners have up to the current date been without a supply of logs, that Brainerd must be the ultimate manufacturing point of the upper Mississippi. If our Brainerd friends only could entertain it. But facilities for the distribution of lumber are about as essential to the successful prosecution of the business as a supply of logs. More than this, it promises to be a good many years before the Minneapolis manufacturers will be found without a stock of logs in the river at the end of the sawing season sufficient to start the mills the next season, drives or no drives.—Minneapolis Lumberman.

THE DISPATCH PREDICTS THAT AS FAR AS THE DISTRIBUTION OF LUMBER IS CONCERNED THAT BRAINERD WILL HAVE FACILITIES TO COMPETE WITH EVEN MINNEAPOLIS IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

There is no use of disguising the fact that Minneapolis is already becoming much alarmed at Brainerd's pretensions in the lumber business. Wait until we get our new roads and the dam completed and she will want to move her entire lumber interests up here, and Brainerd will receive 'em with open arms. There's room for all and "millions in it."

AN EXPENSIVE LUXURY.

It seems that the gopher and blackbird law does not give very good satisfaction where adopted by the county commissioners. In Pope county the law was in force only six weeks when over $2,000 was paid out and it had to be stopped. In Grant county it was in force only as to pocket gophers and after depleting the treasury to the amount of $1,200 it was discontinued.

SOLID FOR JIM HILL.

The bond question was carried at yesterday's election by a majority of 173, and if the transfer of the Brainerd & Northwestern has been fully consummated there would not have been ten votes cast in opposition to the bonds; thus showing that the citizens of Crookston are a unit in carrying out their part of the agreement with Mr. Hill.—Crookston Chronicle.

Mark Paine, the N. P. Junction lumberman who was burned out last Saturday, gave the Duluth firemen $300 for their services.

The Northern Pacific have been granted a lease of the Duluth & Manitoba road for a term of fifty years.

In Georgia a tax of ten cents a head on cats is imposed. This is a progressive nation.

Three elevators containing over a million bushels of wheat were burned at Minneapolis Tuesday night.

INTO THE GREAT PINE REGION.

The survey of the Brainerd & Northwestern is gradually being pushed into the great pine region north of the Northern Pacific and at last accounts was within nineteen miles of Leech Lake, which body the line is expected to strike. There is apparently little doubt but that the line will be built, and that too, in the very near future. It is destined to play an important part in the lumber business of the northwest.—Lumberman.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

The Council Petitioned to Open Fifth Street.

The city council held a regular meeting Monday evening, and after the preliminaries and the confirmation of Ed. Caffery as policeman and the discharge of Officer Lewis, the council considered the matter of giving Hose Co. No. 4 an outfit, and the purchasing committee was instructed to procure an outfit and to buy a lot and erect a hose house for them. This was carried without a dissenting vote. The committee on sewerage submitted plans and made a verbal report which was accepted and the committee was authorized to go ahead and expend not to exceed $15,000 in their construction, the vote on it being a tie, and for the first time in some years the mayor was called on to cast the deciding vote, which was in the affirmative.

James Hawkins was instructed to build several sidewalks at same rate as he received last season, and to fix up sidewalks in East Brainerd.

J. B. Douglas then stepped out and presented a couple of petitions to the council signed by over a hundred residents and property holders on Fifth street asking that the land be condemned and the street opened. A motion to refer the whole matter to the committee on streets was lost. Ald. Gardner's motion to read and adopt the resolutions was carried.

A resolution was then read praying that J. B. Douglas be appointed as special attorney to attend to this matter, as City Attorney Fernald was the attorney for the railroad company, but it did not carry. Mr. Douglas then made a speech to the council in which he stated that he desired to see the street opened, and that he thought the whole matter would die if left to the city attorney on account of his relation to the railroad company, and he wanted to see some attorney, he didn't care who, appointed that would attend to it. This unwarranted dig at Mr. Fernald brought that gentleman up, and he stated that he had not been consulted in the matter but he certainly should do what was right in the matter as everybody knew, and that he was not in the habit of doing crooked business; that from the start he had had an understanding that should any case arise in which he could not act for the city's interest he would let them know, and then could appoint some one to act, but did not think Mr. Douglas should be allowed to dictate to the council, or publicly insult him unless there was some cause.

At this point Ald. Doran saw an opportunity to get a side-winder into Douglas' ribs and remarked that "probably Douglas was anxious to improve the opportunity of getting back where he could manage a certain part of the city's affairs again," but the look on Ald. Doran's face was resolute.

When asked whether or not he could act, Mr. Fernald stated that being asked to give an answer without looking into the matter, he would be obliged to say that he could not act. Three or four ballots were then taken in which Mr. Lum received four votes each time, and being unable to elect, Mr. Fernald was asked to appoint an attorney and he named Mr. Lum, and the council by vote agreed to pay him out of the city funds.

The openings on Front street into basements were ordered to be cut down to three feet.

BARRETT'S CLEVER ELEPHANTS.

Amazing Displays of Intelligence. Two Elephant Puzellists.

One of the most striking attractions of S. H. Barrett's New United Monster Shows, which exhibit here, on August 2nd, is the intelligence displayed by the herd of trained elephants. They appear to be the most intelligent of animals, and form musical acts, whirl in many waltzes, form towering pyramids, and do numerous other amazing feats. This perfection has only been attained after years of hard, unremitting work on the part of the trainer, Prof. George Thompson, a most humane and capable gentleman. The two leading elephantine stars are "Bismarck" and "Juno," a male and female, respectively, of the Asiatic species. They display almost human intelligence in their part of the performance. The jolly trick clown, elephants, "Doc" and "Ben Butler," share the stellar honors with their big companions, "Bismarck" and "Juno." "Doc" and "Ben" are a precious pair. Their antics surpass in humor any of the "human" acts in the circus company. They wind up their laughable act with a genuine four-round boxing bout, in accordance with the rules promulgated by the famous Marquis of Queensberry. A referee, seconds, time-keeper, bottle-holders, and other realistic accessories are introduced. A glove is attached to the trunk of each animal, and at the call of "time," they smash away at each other, to the infinite delight of the spectators. A real knock-out contest invariably takes place, unless the referee forbids "slugging." In that deplorable event, the four-legged pugilists spar for "scientific points" only. The admirers of the many art heretobards have a rich treat in store.

IT PAYS BETTER.

A revolution in the pine lumber business of Minnesota will be brought about by the completion of the Brainerd & Northwestern railroad, the survey of which is in progress. Instead of the logs being driven to the mills, the mills will be built where the logs are cut and the manufactured lumber taken by rail to market. By the way, it is reported that C. F. Kindred has made a trade with President Hill, of the Manitoba, whereby the latter is to build this line of road and take one half the land grant. Mr. K. to take the other half, or about one million acres. This pays better than going to Congress.—St. Cloud Journal-Press.

Prained Dispatch.

INGERSOLL & WIELAND, Publishers.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA.

Ignatius Donnelly's Shakespeare Bacon book is promised for October next. Each book will contain an exact photolith of the old edition of the plays published in 1623, in which the alleged Baconian cipher is found.

The settlers on the Maxwell grant, numbering many thousands, which the supreme court confirmed to a Dutch and American syndicate, are organizing to maintain their rights to the land by force of arms.

Washington, it is stated, has just completed the work of laying 17,000 feet of underground telegraph cable for the use of the District Fire Alarm and Telegraph Service, and the poles on which those wires were strung cease to disfigure the streets.

By charging visitors five cents each for a look at him and selling his photographs a colored prisoner under sentence of death in Louisville, Ky., has amassed $80, with which he has ordered a gaudily trimmed coffin, and expects to be buried in fine style.

Four carrier pigeons were liberated in South Carolina and in thirteen hours were at their home in Pennsylvania, 510 miles distant. There was only thirty minutes difference in the time of their arrival. How tame all bicycle riders will look after this.

It has been decided by the New York court of appeals that a dealer in fraudulent or adulterated goods may be held responsible for damages resulting from such adulteration, even though the dealer act in good faith and suppose the goods to be pure. This decision is expected to effectually prevent food adulteration. Make the dealer responsible in law for what he sells.

The fact that there were but 89,000 interest checks for the 4-per cent bonds sent out from Washington at the end of the fiscal year, as compared with 41,000 twelve months ago, shows that the small holders have been selling in the past year, and that these bonds are steadily drifting into the possession of the banks. This is the best form of security for circulation, as it will not mature until 1907.

Said the Hon. Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky to the Yale alumni: "If the woman agrees with her husband, or suffrage is useless; if she does not agree, her suffrage is fatal to the family. Mr. Clay was equally pronounced in opposition to prohibition, and to Intemperance, as well. His speech abounded in lusty points, and is criticized and commended by the papers, according to their various predilections.

There is no doubt that 10,000 miles of new railroad will be built during the year, absorbing not less than $200,000,000 of capital, and the sum already invested since January 1 is certainly $75,000,000. Real estate improvements have more than kept pace with railroad building, and by the end of the year at least $300,000,000 will have been expended in new buildings in the cities and towns of the United States.

In the foreign news, the term "cloture" frequently appears. Cloture is French and means closing of debate. It is borrowed by the English Parliament from the French Assembly, where it answers to the carrying of the "previous question" in the United States old State Legislatures. These terms mean that as all has been said and heard that is necessary for a determination by vote, the debate is closed; its purpose is to prevent the hindrance to legislation by a talkative and persistent partisan minority.

The recent cordial fraternization of the Union and gray at Gettysburg seems a realization of Lincoln's prophetic utterance in his first inaugural, in his touching appeal to the South: "We are not enemies, but friends. We must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union when again touched, as surely they will, by the better angel of our nature."

There have been many conflicting reports in regard to the prospects for the completion of the Panama canal, but the recent testimony of competent engineers is all in one direction, viz., that it bids fair to be a failure. Mr. Boulanger, one of the French engineers who has been employed on the project, declares that as soon as the present supply of funds is exhausted—which will be in about three months the work will have to be abandoned for some time, if not entirely. His pessimism is based on the fact that not more than one-fifth of the work has been done at a cost of $200,000,000. He thinks that from $400,000,000 to $600,000,000 more will be required to finish it.

Sir George Dikie, in the London Fortnightly Review, in spite of her enormous debt, insists that Russia is growing in power, and that her power, great in itself, gains by being surrounded by the terrors that encompass the unknown. She has a complete mobilization of her forces, has upon paper at once of force, and ultimately six millions of men. Her artillery has as many guns as that of Germany or of France; and her cavalry is perhaps more numerous than that of France and Germany combined, certainly more numerous than that of Germany and Austria. With her magnificent natural position and her unrivaled chain of fortresses on the German frontier, Russia can always wear out German patience; not, even though it were as Count Moltke says, that 200,000 men upon the Vistula, together with the German fortresses, could prevent Russia from invading Germany, even in that case there would be 200,000 men withdrawn from the French frontier, in face of a French army more numerous than the German, and they would not suffice to prevent Russia from crushing Austria, or holding Austria in check.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

The Rights of Mixed Bloods.
In the United States District Court at St. Paul, the jury in the suit of G. H. Beaulieu against the Indian Agent T. J. Sheehan, of the White River reservation, brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, awarding him $250 damages, and granting him the right to carry on the publication of his paper upon the reservation. Nelson decided that the Beaulieu could claim the right of jurisdiction from the United States, and the same from the Indians. This decision is of exceeding interest, and is believed to be the first case upon record where a half-breed has been granted the right to sue. While the jury's verdict permits the issue of the paper within the confines of White River reservation, it does not grant to Mr. Beaulieu the privilege of reading up on the reservation as long as his residence is occupied by the government agent. The latter has conferred upon him by the department at Washington absolute authority to remove the paper, and is empowered to eject all persons whose presence he may consider detrimental to the interests of the reservation Indians.
